

The main studio at the new Pickwick Hotel, KMBC headquarters in Kansas City, is a beehive of activity these days with decorators, technical experts and organ men. Installation of the big radio organ is in itself a huge task. Two rooms with very high ceilings are required for the organ pipes, which are controlled from either or both of two consoles. P. Hans Flath, noted organist and KMBC musical director, will officiate at the big three-manual console. His associate has not been selected. The KMBC management believes this to be the first twin console organ installed by any radio studio in the world.
